

By Jim Lapham
(A Member of The Star's Staff)
MAYBE it was just a slow day at CIA. CIA is short for Central Intelligence Agency. By its own definition, the CIA mounts a "national intelligence effort to provide foreign knowledge."

And that is short, in federal lingo, for spy. But a study of the James Bond type of movie, television and paperback spy thriller builds a person up for a considerable disillusionment when visiting the CIA offices here.

To begin with, the CIA is listed in the phone book. True, it is not listed under SPY in the S's. It is listed alphabetically between what the phone book calls Atomic Energy Comsn and Civil Aeronautics board, under U. S. Government offices.

The phone book listing gives the address of the new federal office building for the agency. On the building directory just inside the main entrance is a listing of government agencies housed there.

CIA does not appear on this building directory. But of the Charles Pecinovsky and W. L. hundreds and hundreds and Joseph. Oh well, if a person is going to be a spy, he ought to show some aptitude for the job and the of-

These are the two CIA men, (Continued on Page 10A)

CPYRIGHT

CPYRIGHT

KANSAS CITY STAR
19 March 1967

cf. NSA BOOK for complete article

FOIAb3b